

Your family. Your legacy. These troubled times remind us how important they are.

Here's an easy way to document and share the legacy of your wonderful life: a thorough, well-researched video biography conversation. Easily and safely done, with proper social distancing.

You want to share your experiences and celebrate your achievements, the lessons learned. To be an inspiration now and in the future. And what could be more meaningful and lasting than a comfortable, yet in-depth broadcast-quality video conversation? One that shows you as you are...your mannerisms, your inflections...and invites repeated viewings as you tell the story of your wonderful life.

Lessons, Leadership, Legacy. Tell your story.

From Legacies and Leadership you can expect - a studio-quality, highly-personalized video biography presentation - a well-researched interview by two-time New York Press Club award winner Ray Hoffman (21 years with BusinessWeek, 18 with New York's WCBS 880) - questions well-tailored to match your persona and accomplishments. And you get total control over the final product. Visit us:

legaciesandleadership.com